The ASP is a branch of Citizens United that focuses solely on protecting American sovereignty and security. The donors worry about the influence that foreign governments in the United Nations have on our own policy. They are interested in seeing the United Nations Headquarters moved off of United States land. They feel very strongly that American soldiers should serve the United States, not in UN peacekeeping taskforces. ASP's donors have responded enthusiastically to these appeals and others designed to keep the United States free from unwarranted and unconstitutional foreign influence.

The ASP lobbies to get the United States to completely withdraw from the ineffective UN and to prevent the United States from entering into any treaties that limit the will of the United States. They completely oppose funding the United Nations with taxpayer's money, and they feel that the entire body is unconstitutional.
