Donors to the Clare Boothe Luce Policy Institute have a keen interest in seeing more conservative women in leadership positions. Donors share an appreciation for Constitutional principles like individual and economic freedoms, limited government, personal responsibility, and traditional values. They eagerly support the work that CBLPI does to transform young women into successful, confident leaders.

CBLPI was founded in 1993 to prepare women for a life in the political arena. They also support programs that are pro-America, pro-business, and pro-family.
