CapitolWatch donors are eager to bring fiscal responsibility back to the federal government. These well-to-do donors support lower taxes and lower government spending. They are very concerned about the National Debt and the dangers that bankruptcy would pose to the security of our nation. They are concerned about immigration reform, oppose amnesty in any form, support net neutrality, and work for Social Security reform. They are strong fiscal conservatives who support limited government.

CapitolWatch was created in 1984 and since then, it has grown to become a powerful lobby to Congress. They vow to protect taxpayers no matter what, and keep the government from spending wastefully.
