These donors have contributed to an organization aiding Americans victimized by the judicial zealots and regulation-wielding bureaucrats who are rapidly eroding the time-honored American right to private property. These compassionate donors are well-acquainted with cases of government abuse and have come to the defense of citizens whose property has been seized or who have been harassed, fined and even imprisoned for real or imagined violations of irresponsible, illogical and unconstitutional rules, regulations and bureaucratic dictates. They reject radical environmentalism and the government interference committed in its name and seek justice for its victims.

Donors have been especially alarmed by the Supreme Court's recent Kelo decision which allows government to seize private homes and give them to private developers without the owners' consent.
