Donors to the National Journalism Center understand that there is a need to train young journalists in the art of fair and balanced reporting. They are fed up with the liberal spin that is coming out of news outlets like CNN and MSNBC. They are solid, generous conservatives who are interested in preserving the future of the conservative movement. They support a smaller government, oppose Obama and his socialist agenda, and are pro-family.

Since 1977, the National Journalism Center has trained aspiring journalists in the values of balanced, responsible, and accurate reporting. Weekly seminars and on-the-job experience provide participants with the tools to become leaders in combating bias in the mainstream media. It is managed by Young America's Foundation.
