United American Patriots' donors are religious, patriotic Americans who understand the need to defend the troops against the slurs that the liberal media, radical lawyers, and special interest groups throw. They believe in honor, loyalty and patriotism, and stand behind the troops and former President Bush. They believe in the idea that this country was formed as "one nation, under God," and they support religious freedom in schools and federal buildings. They believe that a country can only be strong when its borders are secure, and they support Arizona in their battle against illegal immigration. They actively seek to restore a system of morals to the country and feel that only then will we be able to root out corruption and waste.

United American Patriots is a Judeo-Christian organization that supports the Constitution of the United States, The Bill of Rights, and our democratically elected form of representative government. They believe that by adhering to these beliefs, we will be able to pass on a stronger America to our children.
